Montana Masquers Will Present "R. U. R." Thursday and Friday

Opening Performance of Fantastic Melodrama Will Be Held in Local High School Auditorium

The Montana Masquers will give the opening presentation of the major fall production, "R.U.R." by Karel Capek, Thursday evening, November 24, in the auditorium of the Missoula county high school. The following evening a special student performance will be given in the Little Theater at reduced prices.

The story is centered around the manufacture of Rossum's Universal Robots, highly-developed mechanical men. The scene of the play is the factory of robots on a distant island some time in the future. There is a great demand for robots and orders have been received for months ahead of time. Robots are found very useful in factories and farms and are used as household servants.

Love Element Is Present

Helena Glory, believing that the robots are over-worked and misused, comes to the island to plead with the manufacturers to discontinue their production. Her plea is of no avail, but she is received cordially. She is the only woman who has been on the island for several years and they urge her to stay for a while. The general manager of the factory has fallen in love with her and proposes. She accepts him.

The second act takes place ten years later. The manufacture of robots has become a gigantic industry. The mechanical men have been turned out by the thousands. Improvements have developed them so that they are now stronger and more intelligent than human beings. With the increase in intelligence, the robots have begun to be fired with the desire for power. In many parts of the world they have been used as soldiers, at which work they excel.

Robots Revolt

In one part of the world they have formed a union for their own protection. This is significant of the growing realization the robots have of their power. It is not long before small groups of robots revolt in various parts of the world. What can be done when they do revolt is the problem Capek deals with.

Barnard Hewitt has directed the play and Esther Porter has been in charge of the technical end of the production.

Members of Cast

The cast consists of Harry Domin, general manager of Rossum's Universal Robots, Leslie Pace; Helena Glory, Ruth Wallace; Sulla, a robotess, Estelle Fletcher; Marius, a robot, William Blaskovich; Dr. Gall, head of the psychological and experimental department, Taylor Gardner; Mr. Alquist, architect and head of workers' department, Elmo Cure; Dr. Hallemeier, head of the institution for psychological training of robots, Robert Bates; Mr. Fabry, engineer general, technical controller of R. U. R., Eugene Manis; Consul Busman, general manager of R. U. ## R. O. T. C. Quintets Prepare for Cage Tourney Sessions

Three Infantry Companies and Band Will Be Represented In Hoop Contest

With practice sessions well under way, and the aspirants for team positions seeded to the strongest contenders, basketball fans are awaiting the opening of the schedule which will bring together the three companies of the R. O. T. C. and a team from the Band.

A fair turnout was present at the practice last Saturday, but there are many players in the ranks of the cadet army who have not as yet reported. This race is a fine chance for an unknown to show his wares before the coaches of the freshman and varsity teams.

The tournament will begin Tuesday, November 29, with teams from Company A and Company B meeting, followed by a game between Company C and the Band. Team captains are Cale Crowley, Company A; Clarence Watson, Company B; William Erickson, Company C, and Archie Kimpel, Band.

Members of the Board are Elizabeth Ireland, Freeman Daughters, dean of the School of Education; Sylvia Watts, county superintendent of schools of Yellowstone county; J. A. Woodard, principal of the Gallatin county high school and K. W. Bergan, superintendent of schools at Cascade.

Junior-Senior Aptitude Test Starts Today

Selected Students Will Take First Of Series of One-Hour Examinations

A selected group of juniors and seniors will take the first of a series of one-hour aptitude tests this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Room 206 of the Forestry building. The tests are being given in an effort to determine the reliability and validity of the aptitude tests given to freshmen.

Similar tests will be given tomorrow and next week, according to Mamie Nicolet, graduate assistant in psychology, who is in charge of the work. Students need have no fears whatsoever that results of their examinations will affect grades in other courses. The examinations will consist of the same tests taken when the students were freshmen; as well as the 1932 edition of the "cuckoo" puzzles.

In a letter sent out to students yesterday, President Clapp asked for cooperation from the juniors and seniors who will be taking the tests. Similar projects are being conducted at many other universities in order to determine the true value of the aptitude test.

If it is impossible for anyone to be present at the test, he is asked to report at Window No. 1 of the Registrar's office.

Prof. Lewis M. Simes, a member of the Law faculty at the State University from 1919 to 1922, has left the staff of the Ohio State university at Columbus to accept a professorship in the Law school of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The review led to a broad discussion of his subject by the members present.

During the winter quarter, the groups will compete in basketball and swimming. Spring events will be tennis, golf, horseshoe pitching and baseball.

Two Tickets to Hi-Jinx Will Be Given For Title Chosen

Closing date for the contest in selecting a new name for Commerce club has been changed from December 1 to noon November 28, according to Melvin Magnusson, chairman of the contest committee. "About twenty suggestions have already been turned in," he said.

Two tickets to Hi-Jinx will be given by the club to the student who turns in the best suggestion for a new name. A ballot box, in which suggestions may be left, has been placed in the entry of Craig hall. Those entering the contest must remember that the club is organized to include all members of the School of Business Administration for the purpose of better acquainting them with the work and people of their department.

The winner of the contest will be announced November 29. The contest will be judged by the club executive committee which consists of Charles Gaughan, Flora Horsky, Arnold Peterson, Dorothy Miller, Robert Leslie, Oskar Limpus and Nat Allen. In case of a duplication the person turning in the suggestion first will be given the consideration.

From the
SENIOR BENCH

WE GOT a break the other day. It was a most intriguing sort of break. We were permitted to watch an act of the Masquers' major production in rehearsal. We always did like to see things in process, to find out how everything was done. Now we expect to find ourselves looking to see whether one of the very effective back-drops is straight, so that the door can close when it is necessary that the door be closed. We expect to notice if one actor starts to walk at one word, instead of another. But seriously, we probably will not be conscious of ever having seen the actors before, when we attend the final production of "R.U.R." The play, what we saw of it, was melodramatic in a natural manner. The fantastic possibilities of a world in the hands of robots were very vivid and real. Even without costuming or lighting, the menacing attitude of one robot sent shivers up and down our back. All we hope is that we don't break a leg so that we can't go to see how everything turns out.

ABER DAY has been suspended for this year. We are sorry to see this unusually fine tradition jeopardized, even for a year. And yet we can see both sides of this question. When Aber Day was started, there was a great deal of work to be done around the campus. The first day improvements valued at a thousand dollars were accomplished. Everyone worked and worked hard, and work was concluded at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Last year, the day was a general holiday. A few individuals did accomplish things. But the wind scattered leaves as fast as they were asked and the actual permanent improvements make a very short list, indeed. Because, this year, the expense of Aber Day seems superfluous or the work accomplished, we reluctantly admit that it is wiser to allow students to earn that sum in doing similar work. But we do hope that Aber Day is not entirely a thing of the past. Can't we plan a big outdoor convocation for some bright spring day, to give Daddy Aber an hour of honor, if not a whole day?

THANKSGIVING Day is day after tomorrow. We presume that the usual lists of things to be thankful for will be enumerated on lower-grade-school blackboards, and the usual essays on Thanksgiving will be composed by older students. It wasn't hard for us to decide what our list would include. We are thankful for our people—our parents. We like our folks. We like our mother's nice profile and her enthusiasms. We admire her intelligence and her kindheartedness and her idealism. We like our father's eyes, especially when he has a quiet smile wrinkling the corners of them. We like his conservatism and his good disposition and his strength in emergencies. We like our folks because they don't let us down, and we are very grateful to have gotten the parents we did.

ONE of the things we like, on this campus, is "Hello Walk," beside the Law building. No one actually goes so far as we have noticed, chirp "Hello!" to all passers-by while traversing that walk. But enough people are shouting it to make up for occasional lapses. And often the cordiality usually lasts all the way around the campus. Anyway, whether everyone says "Hello" or not, we like the idea and the spirit behind it.

William Bippus and Noral Whittington will go to Butte for the annual state championship high school football game. From there they will go to Helena for Thanksgiving.

BUSINESS MANAGER

The "hot cha" atmosphere is no longer prevalent on the American college campuses this year. Although the tone of collegiate life has been decidedly changed, there is not a great decrease in college enrollment. The economic situation has made the majority of students realize that they are going to school and not spending their time in a glorified country club. The rah-rah cliques who formerly broke into print following a wild party or a roadhouse raid have been badly depleted and this year's enrollment embraces mainly students who are going to school to get an education.

Recently the New York Sun made a survey of the situation and said: "The type of student who, in the boom days when their fathers were able to supply pocket money bountifully, considered the campus as a meeting ground for congenial youth and a base from which to organize week-end excursions, is far in the minority. College authorities in all parts of the country report the undergraduate facing his studies with a realization that life is real and earnest."

Throughout the country, colleges are coping with the unemployment situation by giving scholarships, loans or part-time employment to large numbers of students. Various organizations on the Montana campus have loan funds and the A.S.U.M. has recently begun an employment bureau. Applications for the usual student jobs such as waiting on tables, washing dishes, and clerking in stores are greater than ever before. The lowest number of yellow slips to be issued since 1925 seems to further indicate an increase in the serious-mindedness of the average group on this campus.

Co-eds at Northwestern are on the up and up. They have proposed forming a widows' union. The plan is for each self-imposed "widow" to hang a yellow ribbon around her white neck. The yellow ribbons will signify the same thing as red traffic lights. Campus men are thereby warned that it will be useless to ask for dates—that there is an absent sweetheart somewhere. Perhaps the ribbons are planned because the men pay little attention to engagement rings. The ribbon plan no doubt will have the national approval of economists. If ribbons could be substituted for diamonds a rapid rise in the engagement market should result.—Washington State Evergreen.

Now that the R.F.C. crews have completed their cleanup about the campus, we decide that many of the faces that puzzled us were not freshmen after all...

and that only about fifty per cent of the men working on the rock garden were unemployed college pros...

the other fifty per cent being college graduates.

If only we could prove that one of the clean-up crew was a Phi Beta Kappa, we would broadcast it profusely.

It might be good publicity to get people to see our side of the question and cut down on the obvious grade point onslaught that is going on this year, for fewer yellow slips were issued at mid-quarter than ever before.

Not that Montana students are becoming more intelligent. God forbid. Financial difficulties are the answer... we're all so "broke" that there is nothing else to do but study, or sleep. And who likes to sleep when there is studying to be done?

The answer is obvious, and the excuse is that students can no longer afford the luxury of an alarm clock.

Most of the sleep may be classed as "beauty sleep."

But few of the sleepers (especially in classrooms) could be classed as "sleeping beauties"...

even as you and I.

Which may or may not be an answer as to why most campus males prefer the freshman co-ed.

Something for pipe smokers to think about!

ABOUT 1864, farmers began to grow White Burley Tobacco. A few casks were taken to the St. Louis Fair in 1867 and sold for 58c a pound.

White Burley Tobacco is used to make Granger. It is the best pipe tobacco that grows.

You will notice the difference as soon as you light up your pipe of Granger. It burns slower, smokes cooler and never gums a pipe.

Powerful Uclans Trounce Grizzly Squad to Retain Conference Lead

Stansberry and Emery Out-punt Bruins 34 Yards to 27; California Team Scores Five Times to Defeat Montanans, 32 to 0

The University of California at Los Angeles Bruins scored at least one touchdown in every period to defeat the Montana Grizzlies, 32 to 0, at Los Angeles Saturday. This was the last conference game of the season for Montana. U.C.L.A.'s win enabled her to continue undefeated in the race for the conference title. The game was played under mid-summer conditions and the Grizzlies were visibly affected by the heat. The small Montana squad held the co-leaders of the conference down to two touchdowns in the first half, but fresh Bruin reserves wore them down and scored 19 points in the last half.

U.C.L.A. gained 372 yards, dividing their attack between a strong running offense and an effective passing attack, while the Grizzlies could only make 103 yards. U.C.L.A. led in first downs with 14 to Montana's six.

MONTANA THREATENS
Montana threatened the Bruin goal line in the second period when, after the Uclans had fumbled and Montana recovered near midfield, Stansberry and Emery advanced the ball to the 35-yard line. Stansberry passed to Duffy, who was downed on the 18-yard line. On the next play Stansberry's long pass was knocked out of Hinman's hands and was incomplete over the goal line. A few seconds later the half ended.

In the last half, Montana was deprived of a touchdown when the referee blew his whistle after Stansberry received a lateral pass near mid-field and raced more than forty yards, crossing the Bruin goal line. The play was annulled when the officials ruled that the whistle had blown when Stansberry was momentarily stopped early in his run.

Grizzlies Out-punt Uclans
Stansberry and Emery out-punted the Bruin kickers 34 yards to 27. Frank Vesel, Grizzly fullback, was the most consistent ground-gainer for Montana, with an average of 4.33 yards on 10 tries.

Lewandowski Issues Call To Hoop Men

New Coach Will Guide Grizzly Club Through 1933 Basketball Era; 13 Lettermen Back

Montana will enter the 1933 basketball race under the tutelage of a new and untried coach. Untried in collegiate competition, but as freshman coach, the producer of a fast-stepping, straight-shooting quintet, A. J. Lewandowski assumes the Grizzly hoop mentorship.

Thirteen varsity men from the 1932 squad will answer the call of Coach Lewandowski at the first practice session Friday. Eleven men from the Cubs of last year are expected out by the coaching staff. Only two men, Captain Glenn Lockwood and Everett Logan, were lost through graduation. There has been no captain selected to fill the responsibilities vacated by Lockwood, as the men voted to select a captain before each game during this coming season.

Eddie Krause and Merth Thompson may be lost to the squad this year. They are not in school this quarter and unless they register for the winter session, will be ineligible to play.

Varsity men who will be in suits this season are: Chalmers Lyman, Alfred Dahlberg, Lloyd Andrews, David Fitzgerald, Lewis Steensland, Dick Fox, Jimmy Jones, Dale Hinman, William Erickson, Monte Reynolds, Arthur Caven and Henry Murray.

Cubs from last year who are expected to include Albert Heller, Glenn Frisbie, Bill Hileman, Jimmy Brown, Frank Vesel, Ed Schmoll, Roy Quanstrom, Naseby Rhinehart, Bob Stansberry and Cal Emery.

Members of the football squad who are now engaged in competition will not report until after the Gonzaga game in Spokane, Saturday. Cubs for this year will not report until January 4. With only three weeks of classes remaining, freshmen will devote their entire time to study as no man is eligible to play unless his grades are satisfactory.

Negotiations are under way to assure the team a game with the Wichita Henry's, A. A. A. champions for the

Hockey Tournament Completed Friday

Round-robin Contest Finds Three Teams Matched

By a score of 2-0 the sophomore hockey team defeated the junior team Friday afternoon to finish the round-robin tournament in which the freshmen, sophomores and juniors competed.

Each team won one game during the tournament. Monday afternoon the freshmen defeated the sophomores; Wednesday afternoon the juniors defeated the freshmen, and the sophomores came back Friday to defeat the juniors. The results of this tournament will necessitate an elimination tournament the week following Thanksgiving, if weather conditions permit.

Following the game each day, the team which did not play served tea to the members of the other teams.

The games were refereed by Gladys Allred, instructor in the Department of Physical Education, and Leola Stevens, president of the Women's Athletic association.

Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Chi Omega house were Eleanor Speaker, Harriet Calhoun, Betty Kelleher, Mary Emmett and Marie Christian.

past three years. The game will be played on the home floor on January 14. Arrangements for University of Idaho to play a two-game series with the Grizzlies here December 30 and 31 are now being made.

The fall schedule for the 1933 season has not as yet been definitely decided upon.

"One little, two little, three little... And you can keep on going up to 50 if you want to. There were that many on Craig hall's lawn the other day. Luckies took the lead, with Chesterfield's and Camels running close seconds. Among those who also appeared were Fatimas. And Spuds. And Old Golds. And Raleighs. They were a sorry sight. Discarded. Torn. Dirty. Smashed. Crumpled. Why Craig hall seems to be the most popular building on the campus for light-ups (on the outside, at least) is a moot question. Anyway, if you believe in circumstantial evidence, Craig hall lawn has seen more last smokes than any other part of the campus.

Watchman's Work

Alert Individuals Keep Eyes On Campus Buildings While Students Slumber

Punching his clock with the key that he finds in each building he enters on his rounds of the State University campus, the watchman excites but little interest. Still, are you sure that you know how he goes about his business.

One watchman carries, hung by a strap across his shoulder, a clock which records the time he enters each building. Inside the clock, on a revolving dial is a circular piece of cardboard marked off into divisions representing the hours. This revolves with the hour of the clock and when a watchman comes to a key in a building he inserts it in the clock and turns it, impressing a letter on the cardboard disk. Each key leaves a different imprint so that the maintenance department will know at what time the watchman visited a building.

The maintenance department files these disks so that a record of the position of the watchman on any given night at any given time can be determined. During the Christmas vacation last year when two men were discovered by University watchmen trying to break into Elliot hall, it was possible to fix the time of the resultant shooting accurately. The watchman had punched his clock but shortly before at one building and the intervening time that was necessary for him to walk to the place where he met the two men could be accurately computed.

In 1916 and 1917, husky Grizzly football players were hired to patrol the campus. They were big enough and husky enough but they were too clever. In those days the clock punching system that was used had a key in each building. It was not anchored; it was merely laid in a box so that the watchman could open the box, remove the key and punch his clock.

But bright Grizzly minds thought out a plan whereby instead of replacing the keys after using, the watchman collected them all. He would then set an alarm clock to awake him at the proper time, punch the clock with the proper key and return to sleep to be awakened by the alarm clock when punching time was due again. He would, of course, return the keys just before quitting in the morning.

Keys to the watchman's clock are now securely anchored by chains to the small iron boxes in each building. It would be a difficult job to collect all the keys on the watchman's route and punch the clock between snatches of sleep. Besides, University students are no longer employed for this job.

Carol Griffith of Drummond was a week-end guest at the Delta Delta Delta house.
